

Professional Development For Teachers

Arts Integration Workshops

Acting Right: Building Collaborative Classroom Culture

Monday, September 27, 4–7 p.m. • Bellinger Hall • Chautauqua Institution

Sean Layne has taken the foundational elements of acting, such as concentration, cooperation and collaboration and created a structured process which can become the basis for effective classroom management every day. This engaging step-by-step approach empowers students to take ownership of and be responsible for their own behavior. In this workshop, teachers learn how to help students build the skills necessary to establish a sense of self-control, accountability, and teambuilding in their classroom.

Those who register only for this workshop will be provided the opportunity to observe Sean demonstrating the techniques presented with students in a classroom at their school.

Register for this workshop only by clicking here .

Benefits of being a Core Team Member — registering for all 4 Arts Integration Workshops:

- Opportunity for their classroom to be selected as a demonstration classroom
- Opportunity for Virtual Check-Ins with Sean Layne after the workshop to guide teachers' use of the techniques presented
- Those who attend all Chautauqua Arts Education Arts Integration Workshops will be invited to a reception during the 2022 CHQ season, including tickets to an evening concert

Register to be a Core Team Member by clicking here .

All workshop attendees will receive a copy of Sean's book Acting Right: Building Collaborative, Cooperative, Creative Classroom Culture through Drama, and other educational tools aligned with the book's content. All attendees will be eligible to receive 3 hours of CTLE credit.

For more information:

Suzanne Fassett-Wright
Director of Arts Education
sfassettwright@chq.org

Chautauqua Institution will be providing NYSED-approved CTLE credits for each course.
For more information please click here.