

Professional Development For Teachers

Arts Integration Workshops

A team consisting of Chautauqua Institution, Jamestown Public Schools and Chautauqua Lake Central School was honored in 2016 as one of 10 new inductees in the Kennedy Center Partners in Education Program. Inspired by the partnership, this team now offers arts integrated professional development workshops for area educators. Arts integration provides a differentiated approach to teaching and learning that can inspire, engage and motivate teachers and students alike through collaborative and creative learning in the classroom.

This program provides 4 workshops on arts integrated strategies, using a hybrid of in-person, asynchronous content and Zoom meetings

Sean Layne, Acting Right: Building Collaborative Classroom Culture: $60

In-person workshop on September 27
3 CTLE credits

Melanie Rick, Reading Art as a Foundation: $60

Asynchronous content followed by Zoom workshop on December 2
4 CTLE credits

Sean Layne, Curriculum-based Tableau: $35

Remote 2-hour Zoom workshop – January 31
Must have attended Acting Right to participate
2 CTLE credits

Melanie Rick, Reading Art as Approach to Teaching: $60

In-person workshop on March 7
Must have attended Reading Art as Foundation to participate
3 CTLE credits

To register for any of the above workshops, please register by contacting Suzanne Fassett-Wright at sfassettwright@chq.org.

Chautauqua Institution will be providing NYSED-approved CTLE credits for each course.
For more information please click here.