Sensory Paris

6 DAYS, 5 NIGHTS | FROM $6,490

Join Judy Barie as you experience Paris through the five senses. Whether you are a dedicated Francophile, or it is your first time in the City of Lights, this trip is an opportunity to immerse yourself in the sensual and sensate pleasures of Paris. Each day highlights how your senses—sight, sound, taste, touch, and smell—have influenced the history of the city and continue to an appreciation of Paris as the most sophisticated city in the world. Your senses help to fuse past and present, offering new ways for you to explore the interconnectedness of the arts. Your visits are a springboard for conversations with local experts about how French patrimony informs contemporary French identity politics and the French economy... and you'll learn how to make French macarons!

HIGHLIGHTS

- Experience a sensory journey through Paris on a highly curated trip that cannot be found anywhere else
- Discuss contemporary art with a Parisian art critic during visits to private galleries
- Dine with a critic and food writer to delve into the changing landscape of Parisian cuisine
- Explore the intersection of commerce, politics, and economics through sculpture
- Hear live jazz at an iconic Parisian nightclub

TRIP EXPERT

Judy Barie, artist and curator, has managed the growth of the CVA Galleries in Chautauqua as Director for the past 16 years. She was instrumental in creating the new spaces in Strohl and Fowler-Kellogg Art Centers, and the Melvin

Johnson Sculpture Garden. Judy is committed to introducing the Chautauqua audience to artwork that is inclusive, inventive and created by professional and emerging artists. She also builds strong relationships with collectors, art enthusiasts and those new to contemporary art, resulting in a universal support of artists.
